HAM RADIO REFERENCE

On January 5, the Stack and Reader Division received a phone call from Oxon Hill, Md., in which the inquirer reported that he was talking to a ham radio operator in Evandale, Ohio, who wanted some information on a recently published book. In a matter of minutes, with an assist from the MARC data base, the ham operator in Ohio had an answer.

WARSAW QUINTET TO PERFORM

On Friday evening, February 11, the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation in the Library of Congress will sponsor a program of chamber music performed by the Warsaw Quintet. The quintet (Igor Iwanow, violin; Jan Tawroszewicz, violin; Stefan Kamasa, viola; Andrzej Orkisz, violoncello; and Wladyslaw Szpilman, piano) was founded in 1960. Since its London debut in 1963, the quintet has traveled extensively over the world; this will be their first performance at the Library. Each of the musicians is an acclaimed solo artist, and the pianist is also a noted composer and author.

The program will include Quintet (1965), dedicated to the Warsaw Quintet by Polish woman composer Grazyna Bacewicz; Quintet in C major (1923) by Ernest Bloch; and Quintet, Op. 5 by Antonin Dvořák.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library. Tickets will be distributed by Patrick Hayes, 1300 G St., N.W., beginning at 8:30 a.m., Monday, February 7. A service charge of 25 cents is placed on each ticket, and only two tickets are distributed to an individual. Telephone reservations may be made on Monday morning by calling 393-4463. Mail orders are not accepted.

The concert will be broadcast live and in its entirety by radio station WETA-FM, and made available to stations in other cities through the Katie and Walter Louchheim Fund in the Library of Congress.

COMPUTER SERVICE CENTER ADDS TELECOMMUNICATIONS TEST FACILITY

A new test facility is now operational in the Library's Computer Service Center to improve availability and service for remote users of computer terminals. The staff of the Telecommunications Technical Control Center (or simply Tech Control Center) has the advanced equipment and capability to pinpoint the cause of a user problem in the complex network of telecommunications devices that exists between ISO's central computers and user terminals. In many cases the Tech Control Center staff can provide instance switchover to alternate lines or components to keep computer services available to remote users while telecommunications repair is in process.

Telecommunications at the Library of Congress is a multivendor environment of technical complexity. The Library's computers communicate with two front-end communications controllers from one vendor, which in turn use modems and data sets from two other vendors to connect to dial-up lines using the Federal Centrex system and to intrastate and interstate leased lines routed through several telephone central offices. More than 140 lines are served in multipoint and point-to-point configurations and in dial-up rotary circuits. These lines then go through a second array of modems and data sets to reach a diversity of vendors' terminal controllers and finally terminals. Faster isolation of problems in this network means faster restoration of service and eliminates vendor-to-vendor "finger pointing." The new equipment is a major help, but its successful operation is due to the skilled and responsible people who work with it.

The Tech Control Center is manned by telecommunications specialists Mike Bolduc and Willy Williams and control clerk Wayne Wright, who accept communications trouble calls on ext. 6237. They first log in the user and the symptoms on a telecommunications trouble ticket that will be the record of all actions taken and then refer to a wall-sized chart of the Library's telecommunications network, which identifies the circuits and components in service for the user. A few steps away, a digital switch and patchboard station permits connection of that user's data stream to an analyzer and data display unit. According to the information given by these units, Tech Control Center staff may decide to switch lines or modems and can do this at the same patchboard station, and in many cases service is restored in a matter of minutes. The vendor maintenance group responsible for the failing unit is then notified. When service is restored, a copy of the trouble ticket is returned to the user as evidence of the actions taken.

"Data communications problems tend to be more difficult than most hardware problems," explained Marty Hughes, chief of ISO's Computer Service Center, "because they often exhibit intermittent disturbances and quality degradation before they actually fail. Our new Tech Control facility aids this problem by providing diagnostic and quality tests that can let us isolate a troublesome line or component before it has had a hard failure."

PRESIDENT'S AWARD PRESENTED TO REGISTER OF COPYRIGHTS

On January 12, Barbara Ringer, Register of Copyrights, was presented the President's Award for Distinguished Federal Civilian Service in a ceremony at the White House. This award, the highest honor for extraordinary achievement in the Federal career service, is granted "to individuals . . . whose achievements exemplify to an exceptional degree imagination, courage, and high ability in carrying out the mission of the Government."

The Vice President presented the gold medals and citations to the recipients of the awards. Each citation was read by the head of the agency where the recipient works. The citation read by Librarian of Congress Daniel J. Boorstin described the Register as "the Nation's foremost authority on copyright law and international copyright issues. . . . Her energy, ability, and concern for the property rights of those who create in literature, the arts, and science have ensured continuation of that creativity, thus enhancing life for all people."

Revision of the copyright law has been under way for a number of years. The revised copyright law, the first major copyright legislation in more than half a century, was enacted by Congress on October 19, 1976.

Awards were also presented to Ernest Ambler, Department of Commerce; Lawrence Eagleburger, Department of State; Alfred Eggers, National Science Foundation; E. Henry Knoche, Central Intelligence Agency; and Dale McOmber, Office of Management and Budget.

JAPANESE INSTITUTE PROVIDED LC DATA BASE

A computer tape containing the Antarctic bibliographic data base created by the Library's Science and Technology Division, in cooperation with the Information Systems Office, has been dispatched to the National Institute of Polar Research, Tokyo, Japan. This consummates an agreement reached between the Institute and the Library's Cold Regions Bibliography Project to furnish abstracts of Japanese Antarctic literature in exchange for the machine-readable data. The first shipment of abstracts has already been received by the Library Project and incorporated into the Antarctic Bibliography.

According to the Institute, the Antarctic data base will be used in Japan for information retrieval, both in the batch mode and on-line. It will be the first time the Antarctic data base is used on-line, in or outside the Library. No problems are said to have been encountered in test runs with a sample tape sent several months ago.

The data base now contains some 17,400 bibliographic citations and is growing at a rate of about 1,600 items per year. Under present plans, updated tapes will be sent every three months.

The agreement, which is expected to benefit both exchange partners, is another example of the genuine spirit of international cooperation that characterizes the Antarctic research community.

REX STOUT AWARD GIVEN

At a luncheon in the Whittall Pavilion on Friday, January 14, The Authors Guild, Inc. presented to Congressman Robert W. Kastenmeier (left) of Wisconsin the Rex Stout Award "for his encouragement of American authors and authorship, through his many years of skillful, fairminded, and persevering captaincy in the work of revising the Copyright Law." The presentation was made by Guild President John Brooks (right). Rep. Kastenmeier is chairman of the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Rep. Kastenmeier and Mr. Brooks

Also present were Librarian of Congress Daniel J. Boorstin, Register of Copyrights Barbara A. Ringer, and Liz Maroc, Rex Stout's grandaughter. Guild member Herman Wouk described Rex Stout's service to authors and authorship and the significance of the creation of the award in his memory. The award was established last year and

Rep. Kastenmeier is its first recipient.

John Hersey, president of The Authors League of America, reviewed the history of the copyright revision bill (finally approved last October) and Rep. Kastenmeier's role in its passage.

STAFF NEWS

RETIREMENT

Ralph T. Weddington, Jr., head of the Filing Section, Catalog Management Division, retired on December 17 after more than 33 years of Federal service, almost 30 years of which were with the Library of Congress.

A native of Atlantic City, N.J., Mr. Weddington attended Howard University during 1937-42 and Eckels College of Mortuary Science in 1946. He worked in the Office of Emergency Mangement and the Veterans Administration in 1942 and the General Accounting Office 1942-45.

Upon joining the Library of Congress in April 1947 he worked in the former Card Division as a filer and card drawer until March 1951 when he transferred to the Catalog Management Division as a filer. He became a process information investigator in 1953 and head of the Card Preparation Section. In 1964 he was promoted to head of the Filing Section.

On January 6, Mr. Weddington was honored by his staff and many friends at a reception in the Whittall Pavilion. He was accompanied by his wife and several family members. William J. Welsh, The Deputy Librarian of Congress, presented him with his retirement certificate. On behalf of his staff and colleagues, Barbara Westby, chief of the Catalog Management Division, presented a CB radio and antenna to him. An adaptation of an LC printed card served as an announcement and a souvenir of the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Weddington have moved to North Carolina to enjoy their leisure.

AWARDS

Elaine S. Neal, operations officer in the Order Division, received a 25-year Federal Service Award pin from Joseph Howard, director of the Processing Department, on December 9. All of Mrs. Neal's Federal service has been in the Library, beginning in the Music Division in 1955. After a brief period in the Processing Department Office, she moved to the Order Division in 1956, where she has held positions of steadily increasing responsibility.

She was awarded an outstanding performance rating and quality increase in 1967 in recognition of the sustained high level of her performance as head of the Order Preparation Section. Mrs. Neal was promoted to her present position in 1971.

In 1976 she received an Incentive Award for directing the work of the Fiscal Section on numerous occasions during the last three years when one or more supervisory positions in that section were vacant.

At a recent ceremony in the Geography and Map Division, Andrew M. Modelski was presented a pin honoring his 20 years of Federal service. Mr. Modelski's entire service with the Library has been spent in the Geography and Map Division where presently he holds the position of senior reference librarian in the Reference and Bibliography Section.

Mr. Modelski joined the staff of the Library of Congress in 1958 after receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in geography from the University of Maryland. He is widely known for his extensive knowledge of the cartographic holdings of the Library of Congress. In addition to his employment at the Library of Congress, he served on active duty with the U.S. Army in 1951-3 and 1961-2 as a Military Intelligence Specialist.

Mr. Modelski was born in Warsaw, Poland. His father Izydor was a Lieutenant General in the Polish Army and under secretary of war in the Polish Government in exile (London). His mother was an administrative assistant to the former Polish Prime Minister, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. Following the fall of Poland the family moved to England in 1940 and in 1946 to the United States where his father served as military and air attache in the Polish Embassy in Washington.

Mr. Modelski's professional publications include the section "Maps, Charts and Atlases" in Marcel Dekker's Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science and Railroad Maps of the United States: A Selective Annotated Bibliography of Original 19th-Century Maps in the Geography and Map Division of the Library of Congress, published by the Library of Congress in 1975. The latter won second place, in its category, at the 13th Annual Blue Pencil Awards (1976), sponsored by the National Association of Government Communicators. He is also the current associate editor (geography) for the Handbook of Latin American Studies.

Mr. Modelski is an active member of the Association of American Geographers and the Special Libraries Association. In the former he is the annual special events chairman for the Middle Atlantic Division, and in the latter, he served, in 1974-5, as chairman of the Geography and Map Group, Washington, D.C. Chapter.

Alice Shanklin, elevator operator, was presented a 20-year Federal Service Award pin on October 22 by Gerald T. Garvey, chief of the Buildings Management Office.

Mrs. Shanklin came to the Library of October 22, 1956, when she accepted a position in the Buildings Services Section. In 1963 Mrs. Shanklin was promoted to elevator operator.

Rosie Young, elevator operator, was presented a 20-year Federal Service Award pin on November 15 by Mr. Garvey. Mrs. Young started her Government career with the D.C. General Hospital in 1956.

In October 1967 she joined the staff of the Library of Congress in the Buildings Services Section. In August 1969 she was promoted to elevator operator.

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Henriette D. Avram, special assistant for network development, Office of The Librarian, and Paul Lagueux of the Council on Library Resources, executive secretary, Committee for the Coordination of Bibliographic Control, were guest speakers at a meeting of the Committee on Information Hang-ups held at the Institute for Defense Analysis on January 11. Mrs. Avram described the functions of the office of network development and the progress made to date, and Mr. Lagueux gave a briefing on the membership and responsibilities of the Committee on the Coordination of Bibliographic Control and the progress the committee and its working parties have made to date.

Janina W. Hoskins, area specialist, Poland and East Europe, Slavic and Central European Division, visited Poland on December 3-12. At the Polish National Library in Warsaw, by special invitation, she delivered a lecture on the Library of Congress illustrated by a film. She also participated in scholarly meetings and discussed possibilities for broadening exchanges of publications with various libraries in Gniezno, Kórnik, Poznań, Toruń, and Warsaw. Mrs. Hoskins' trip was supported by the Department of State.

Samuel Iftikhar, Southern Asia Section, Orientalia Division, was the organizer and moderator of a conference held at the Commerce Department Auditorium on Saturday evening, December 11 at 7 p.m. to pay tribute to M. A. Jinnah, the founder of Pakistan, on the 100th anniversary of his birth. His Excellency Sahabzada Yaqub Khan, Ambassador of Pakistan, presided. Mr. Iftikhar spoke on those qualities of Mr. Jinnah which show why he is called the Great Leader.

William R. Nugent, assistant director for information systems development, presented a talk at the Washington, D.C. meeting of the American Patent Law Association at the invitation of APLA's Information Retrieval Committee. Mr. Nugent's presentation was on the topic; "Library of Congress Information Systems and their relation to Automated Tracking of International Patent Applications." The talk emphasized state-of-the-art techniques for on-line data entry and retrieval and highlighted the embodiment of such techniques in the Library's COPICS and SCORPIO systems. The applicability of these techniques was reviewed in the context of the APLA interest in developing means for automated status tracking of the more than 800,000 annual world patent applications. Mr. Nugent's association with the patent area stems from his previous service as an assistant commissioner of the U.S. Patent Office.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The WRA Choral Society will sponsor the renowned Howard University Gospel Choir, under the direction of Paul Gatlin, on Tuesday, February 8, at noon in the Coolidge Auditorium.

The Training Office has announced the following in-house courses, prepared for Library of Congress employees. Attendance must be job-related, and nominations must be submitted by the individual's supervisor using form LW 3/61, Employee Training Nomination. Supervisors should note nomination deadlines. Nominations for scheduled courses will not be accepted after the specified nomination deadline, except when the course is undersubscribed. Further information may be obtained by calling the Training Office on ext. 6348 or by referring to the annual Catalog of Course Offerings, July 1976 through September 1977.

Corrections: In the Appendix to last week's LC Information Bulletin (January 21, p. 48), the second sentence in the section Subject Headings (p. 48) should read, "A total shift was made from a mixture of direct and indirect methods of local subdivision to a purely indirect system, with the result that users will now find materials collected at higher jurisdictional levels (country or state) which formerly were widely scattered."

The last sentence of the first paragraph under the heading, Labor-Management Program (p. 39), should read, "Many major areas are still under negotiation. It appears that agreement can be reached without requiring the use of impasse procedures."
